BARN OF C. L. HUBBARD EURNED

In Rear of His Residence on Broadway-Started From Cause Unknown-Hydrant Pressure too Light to be Effective -Building Was Used for Garage-Four Automobiles and Three Cows Taken Out in Safety.

The large frame barn of Charles L. Hubbard, now used by him as a garage, in the rear of his residence, No. 242 Broadway, caught fire Sunday afternoon about 5:15 o'clock from some unknown cause. The entire roof and much of the upper story was burned off at a probable loss of over $3,000 to building and contents. The barn was insured.

Four automobiles in the barn were safely run out by Mr. Hubbard and his son, James L. Hubbard and his son, James L. Hubbard and covered the fire breaking out in the upper story of the ell of the barn and telephoned to the central station for the auto chemical. Three cows that were also kept at the barn were taken out in safety.

Lack of pressure at the hydrant in the street cut off a possible chance of believe the fire when they overshot the roof of the barn and caused a great scurred.

Robert E. Cross has returned to covered the fire breaking out in the Hartford after spending several days at his home in this city.

Lack of pressure at the hydrant in the street cut off a possible chance of holding the fire when the autor chemical crew arrived and found that it had too much headway to make the chemical much use. They drove into the yard and shot up a stream at close quarters, and the chemical company from the Falls station, which answered the telephone call, ran a line from the hydrant in Broad street near Cedar. The pressure was so weak that the line was ineffective and a further handleap was added to the situation when a neighbor, who is a Main street business man, went off to ring in the alarm from a box. He was unfamiliar with the way to ring an alarm and he did nothing but break the glass door and wait for the box to do the rest.

Chief Stanton, who happened to be visiting in the neighborhood, hurried to the fire and was told that the bell alarm for the other apparatus had been sent in. He supposed that it was a very plain illustration of the value of the proposed the situation who happened to be visiting in the neighborhood, hurried to the fire and was told that the bell alarm for the other apparatus had been sent in. HERTZ BARN BURNED. Believed That Would-Be Chicker Thieves Were to Blame.

Fire supposed to have been set acci-dentally by chicken thieves did damage Saturday night at the barn of Hertz Bros., No. 22-24 Cove street, that will be several hundred dollars more than the $206 insurance they had on the

A horse belonging to a man named Uhrman and three helfers belonging to Heriz Bros. were taken out of the barn in safety, but about a ton of hay and a quantity of feed were burned.

The fire was discovered by a man named Clark who lives across the street and sent his son Morris to the West Side station to call the fire company. Chief Stanton happened to be a stream on the fire fro ma hydrant at the west end of Cove street when the other companies arrived. The autochemical ran a line through back yards from the hydrant near the corner of West Main and Forest streets and a third line was run from another hydrant at the east end of Cove street.

The roof of the barn was burned off and part of it fell. The fire that got into the hay in the loft made it necessity. into the hay in the loft made it necessary to turn this all over and soak it down before the firemen could leave the place after over an hour of work. It is the theory of the owners of the barn that thieves who stole 10 chickens at the barn earlier in the week made another visit to the place Saturday night. There had been a big flock of chickens in the barn, but they had all been removed by the owners except two. It is supposed that in looking around for the chickens the would-be thieves lit a match which set fire to the hay in the barn.

Policemen Roger Cowles, McFadden and Perry kept the crowd out of the way of the firemen and the searchlight on the motorcycle of C. V. Fendleton, Jr., was used to throw light into the barn to help the firemen to see after the blaze had died down.

FORMER NORWICH COMPANY DOING BIG BUSINESS. Automatic Chicken Feeder Manufacturers Find Trade Enlarging. turers Find Trade Enlarging.

The Norwich Automatic Feeder company, which recently removed from this city to New London, was given the following "writeup" recently:

Nothing has so revolutionized the raising of poultry as the automatic feeder, and the originator and first distributor of this great labor, time and money saving apparatus is the Norwich Automatic Feeder company, whose manufacturing plant is now located in Trumbull street in this city. Comparatively few readers of the Day probably have any notion of what is going on at this thriving industrial establishment, in which Commodore Morton F. Plant is the principal stockholder, and of which F. deC. Sullivan is president and Henry H, Walker the energetic and capable secretary and treasurer. Frank Enos, Jr., of Norwich, the vice president, is the inventor of the principle which makes the feeder successful.

Company Overcame Prajudice.

Company Overcame Prejudices A decade ago those who kept hens ridiculed the idea of an amomatic feeder. It was the same old story that only momentarily blocked the path of progress of the telephone, telegraph automobile and flying machine. Because it hadn't been, it never could be, was argued. The Norwich Automatic Feeder company blazed the trail through the wilrderness of doubt and prejudice.

men to care for them. He purchased 177 of the Norwich automatic feeders. He was then able to reduce his force of employes to eight. His grain bill was reduced 22 per cent. The hens began to lay as never before. This and many other like reports received by the Norwich Automatic Feeder Co. can be readily verified.

The company purchased the property in Trumbull street in June last it promptly converted it into a model manufacturing plant that had formerly been a brick building stuck in a mudhole. A concrete basement was constructed and provisions for resisting any possible encroachment of tide water. Dozens of big windows were installed. An elevator was put in. Every advantage was taken of interior space, Recently the state factory inspector visited the premises and when he went out, remarked that he had seen many larger plants, but never a better one.

To be sure, the business was well under way when the change of location was made from Norwich to this city. One reason for the transfer was the fact of the superior railroad facilities of New London. Another was because the change browsht the business more closely in touch with President Sullivan.

ness more closely in touch with Pres ident Sullivan.

The factory is now running ten hours a day and three nights a week. hours a day and three nights a week. And, with this overtime, it is still unable to keep up with its orders. Today it is exactly 6.840 feeders behind the demand. There is a branch factory in Flitwick, Bedfordshire, Eng., and, despite the war conditons foreign orders are being received daily. The feeders are shipped in the rough to Flitwick and there finished. Incidently the Incidently the Incidentally the Norwich Automatic Feeder Co. holds patents not only in this country and Canada, but in Great Britain, Switzerland, Australia, New Zea'and and eisewhere. Feeders made in New London

These went also and then orders began to pour in for more. Of the 1,000 put out quasi-gratis, less than 25 were not paid for. Ralsers of poultry sent in their checks and ordered more. This time the company sent more. This time the company sent word to those of its customers whom it did not know that it would be more business like to furnish references or business like to furnish references or came the cash. It has been coming ever since. The company has manufactured and sold nearly 100,000 feeders and still is behind the order

The Norwich Automatic was the ploneers, but competitors have sprung up since. In the words of Secretary Walker, they have merely served to stimulate the business of the original concern. It has grown year by year and particularly in the few months since it has been in New London that an enlargement of the factory is now contemplated.

Just one little order that the company is now filling is for 118 ma-chines to be delivered at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco. These will be used in a great egg-laying contest. Company's Other Products.

The automatic feeder is not the only product of the company. Another is the automatic air-lock drinking fountain. How to supply water in the poultry house during the winter months has been one of the problems which has confronted the poultrymen for years, for there is erhaps nothing more discouraging than to fill the dringing vessels, with all the accompanying discomforts of carrying water in cold weather, and then have the fountains freezo almost before the task-is finished.

The problem is solved by the air-lock drinking fountain, which is hygienic, easily cared for, top filled, positive in its action and above all, nonfreezing. The device is worked out on a simple example in physics of atmospheric pressure as against the weight of water. The fountains are guaranteed to be absolutely satisfactory in every respect and to be pessitively frost proof to fee degrees. Company's Other Products, tory in every respect and to be pes-itively frost proof to ten degrees be-low zero. The automatic dry mash hopper is still another product of the

REGULATION OF SALE OF LIQUOR IN LONDON Military Authorities Disgusted With Drunkenness of Soldiers

London, Nov. 20 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Every day the demand in London for a stricter regulation of the sale of liquor during the war becomes more insistent. Military authorities are disgusted with the drunkenness of soldiers brought about by the disposition of civilians to treat all men in uniform.

Lord Kitchener has issued numerous protests against the treating of his soldiers, but without the desired results. Even the cleaning of public houses at 10 o'clock at night has not cured the evil and stricter regulations seem inevitable.

If you've heard the reports about our new Overcoats you know there are some loud propositions in the bunch. The styles that hit the mark of popularity in New York are here. Nothing but what has been O. K.'ed by the censor of style.
